Shoko almost conquers Enivya?

On the fateful day of January 22nd, Shoko established her foothold in the Enivya server with the conquest of the Enivyan role. Experts did not believe such a thing could ever happen – she took them surprise by crossing #media into #general and seizing the role of eniva. However, the conflict largely stalled as she failed to capture the Enivyan capital of #staff-chat. There are rumours on how her next offensive will turn out.

Guys palmer joined the Newspaper team and she's been doing an amazing job, make sure to thank her in general for her hard work and contributions <3.

Larry.

So it was a quiet and a random Monday, when Palmer, Enivya's beloved frog, started revealing some traumatizing lore about herself. All she said was "Larry." and all she did was cry. Nobody knows what possessed her but the members have quite a few theories. My theory (Rose) is that Palmer has been possessed by a demonic cat known as "Larry" and she's trying so hard to fight it but sadly the demon is overtaking her. Blue states , "palmer is autistic and has gone fucking insane". Plague doc's valuable insight states, "Palmer is a frog who is able to travel through dimensions, the problem is whenever she travels her shape will change, and give her autism". The only statement lex has given is "larry.". Clum states that the pictures are "very funny". Squirtle had come to the realization that "Palmer has started her villain arc" Nobody knows about what is happening with Palmer but I hope it's just autism taking over rather than the demonic theory I came up with. Get well soon Palmer! (The pictures are so horrifying, they're definitely going to come in my nightmares tonight)

The best cat ever, Pien

Credit: Tabby

It has been 3 and a half weeks now since Pien has been put asleep most people probably know my cat Pien but if you don't, he was one of the first pet appreciation pets he was in week 13 of newspaper if you want to know more about him his story is there. I want to talk about my last moments with him in this article. Pien was attacked by another cat at 3 in the morning when we woke up and he was just standing outside the door not meowing or making any noises, so we just let him inside. After that we saw he was wounded at his paws, his nose and his neck. He had already gotten in fight before and was always a strong cat and healthy, so we didn't think much of it at first but the next day we had noticed that he wasn't eating a lot so on Christmas we took him to emergency care they put him on oxygen there and took care of the wounds outside. When we got home, he just was tired and we let him rest. The next day we noticed he still hadn't eaten so i started that day by being worried and suspecting the worst, it came to the point of not eating that he was starving himself instead of eating so I wanted to not give up so I bought all the wet food I could find and tried feeding him. The only way he ate was if i put the wet food on his nose which was wounded and then he had to lick the wound clean cause otherwise it would hurt if there was something on it, this was a slow process and wasn't going to help him. So, I grabbed the food and put it in a feeding syringe, I sat with him on the ground for 2 hours and fed him only like 20 grams of food, that's when I called my mom and told her the news, what she said back were the most painful words in my life "I'm sorry to tell you this, but you have to prepare yourself that he won't make it". I was heartbroken I cried for 2 hours straight, and I sat next to him the whole time thru this. That day I went to sleep and the next morning when I woke up, he was still there luckily but hadn't eaten but I had to work so I couldn't help him. I told my mom that if she decided to put him to sleep today, she would call me from work 4 hours later I got called. I knew what was coming i grabbed my stuff and biked to the vet when I got there. He was still so silly even in his last moments. We put him to sleep then. The doctor said his neck was injured from the inside and wasn't able to heal, so it was better to put him to sleep. An hour later we buried him in the backyard where he lays peacefully now. I want to thank everyone in Enivya that was there for me and supported me and wished Pien the best. It all went by so fast 1 day your cat is all healthy and all and then the next day he can't even eat and the day after that you must put him to sleep. I am in peace now and I will never forget Pien he will be the best cat i have ever had, Tabby out.

Send personal stories here! – We will be adding themes to the next submissions as most people didn't really seem to know what to put. This week's will be school related stories, whether that's mischief or whatever else. Also, rip Pien :( poor baby.
