VALENTINA SAW THE SUN????

On this fateful day Valentina saw the sun in England. Such an uncommon sight has brought up many doubts from the british population in the server, is this really their England? What we know for sure is this historic event will not repeat for the next 250000 years.

The E Chain Credit: Burger

It all started, with an unravelling mystery. On the 5th of March 2025 a rare mythical find was collected and graced our eyes. None other than the man egg (@_egg.egg) himself. He begins his introduction with ‘e’. Words of wisdom and longevity. It is then sequenced with others who also shared the same mindset. Here it finally unlocked itself. ‘e’ ‘e’ ‘e’ There were e’s everywhere. People made an e chain in media and that is the great story of E.

SHOKO’S MITOSIS WORKED???

On 27th February Shoko (__.shoko_. aka me) was complaining about the lack of applications for the newspaper team saying “atp i’ll do mitosis and become two shokos to help” not knowing that her future would’ve changed in a matter of time.

Two days later a mysterious member joined the server, her name was Shoko (@shokalate). Afreen pinged both the Shokos to make them meet. They felt connection immediately as both their profile layouts looked cute.

As they chatted more in dms it has come to our knowledge they both have played the same games and have similar interests???

In conclusion Shoko (@shokalate) confessed she had told her friend, previous to joining Enivya, she would’ve met another Shoko somewhere other in discord.

Was this fate afterall?

"I found the younger version of myself in the server" – Shoko (@shokalate)

Pet Appreciation Credit: Clum

Simba is a hybrid of British shorthair and persian, she is the grumpiest little kitty. Even though she hates being touched or bothered while she's doing her own thing, she is so a lap cat usually depends on her mood tbh. Yesterday she rested on my lap for 2 hours?!? Hello?! Like if I put her down she would crawl back and her tiny little eyes just make me melt sighh. Chiku is also the most playful little black cat ever. She has her own ways of showing affection. She's like the quite opposite of me like her patience level?! She literally never gets angry the last time she bit me with aggression was probably... Never. Yeah and she loves hugs.

Infact, she doesn't let me leave the house without giving her a hug, if I don't give her one, she just meows and meows all day. I love them both sm.

Personal Story Credit: Matthew

It was the 10th of February 2026 at 4am. I had just woken up from a nightmare. A nightmare that was most definitely the most unhinged and terrifying experience I've ever had..let me tell you about it. I started off in the middle of a freeway, with zombies all over the street. I came across the London Bridge after walking a while. So I crossed it hoping to find shelter on the city at the other side! While I was crossing the bridge started to give way. I ran and ran while fighting zombies feeling like Lara Croft. When I just managed to escape I saw Raven (The girl not king Raven) standing above me. She pulled me up and I thanked her and told her we need to go somewhere safe, she told me about a tiny hotel up the road. Until BOOM. a zombie version of AKrow bites her and I run for my life. While being terrified of how bald he was. When I got into the hotel I was greeted by the survivors: Valentina, Petrah, Reen, lex, and Palmer who seemed to be infected but somehow wasn't turned. I ran upstairs to check on palmer and the 1st thing I noticed was she had a pixie cut. Also I was taller than her and she said "no fucking way." ! Anyways she told me that Lex was crying earlier because Anna was a zombie and infected Bibi and she had to kill them both. We eventually got situated and I decided to take a nap. And then...I WOKE UP! the story is left on a cliffhanger! I do like to think that Palmer suited a pixie. (Also everyone else looked like how they normally do except lex she had pink hair for some reason)
